Dr. R. D. Law Named New Dean of Education

Dr. Reuben D. Law, professor of education, has been named by the Brigham Young university board of trustees to head the university's college of education, it was announced Wednesday by President Howard S. McDonald. The appointment will be effective July 1.

As dean of education Dr. Law will succeed Dr. Amos N. Merrill, who became professor emeritus of education last year. Dr. Merrill was acting dean of the college of education from 1930 to 1939, and has been dean since 1939.

Dr. Law became a member of the BYU faculty in 1936 as assistant professor of education, and was advanced to associate professor in 1938 and to professor in 1942. He was visiting professor of education at University of Southern California in the summers of 1940 and 1942, and at the Victoria, British Columbia, School of Education in 1943.

During 1940-41 the educator was on leave from BYU while serving as state director of School-Community Relations and Libraries for the Utah State Department of Public Instruction. He was superintendent of schools in Rich county, 1935-36, and school superintendent in Duchesne county school district, 1935-36.

The college of education which Dr. Law will head includes departments of elementary education, secondary education, educational administration, philosophy of education, and the department of health, physical education, and recreation. It also embraces an elementary training school and a secondary training school.

The new dean will have charge of plans for expanding the teacher-education program at Brigham Young university next year to meet the increased demands for well-qualified public school teachers in the intermountain area, President McDonald said. This expansion will be in line with the university's traditional place as one of the largest schools in the West for the training of teachers, he added.

Professor Antone K. Romney, veterans' coordinator at BYU, has been named chairman of the newly-created student counseling service to begin next fall quarter, and Hugh B. Brown, president of the British Mission of the LDS church, has been chosen veterans' coordinator, according to President Howard S. McDonald.

The appointment of Dr. Harold G. Clark of the US Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. as professor of philosophy of education and guidance was also announced by President McDonald. Dr. Clark will assume special duties in the counseling service, assisting with occupational information.

Mark K. Allen, assistant superintendent of the state training school at American Fork, will be associate professor of psychology and will assist in the counseling service. He will direct the testing and measuring work of the counseling service.

Varsity Show Postponed To May 23, 24, 25

The student written, directed, and produced three-act musical comedy, "Professor Preferred," will be presented May 23, 24 and 25 instead of May 15 and 16 as originally scheduled, according to Jean Reese, director.

Thirteen original and sparkling songs will be introduced in the varsity show, and publication of a number of the songs is likely, according to Orin Parker, production manager and student author.

Dance Club Presents Review

Eight original dances delighted the audience attending the Dance club's annual dance review Wednesday and Thursday nights in the Smith ballroom. Miss Lois Ensign was director.

Dance numbers included in the concert were "Gershwin Prelude," "Letter from Home," "Spoon River," "Percussion," "Campus Life," "Orchestration," "Hebrew Number," and "Sound."

All dances were created by dance club members, and musical accompaniments were either written or arranged by club members. Over 30 girls participated.

No Meetings Weeknights-- Remember?

Student organizations were reminded this week of a ruling made earlier in the year by the University Council prohibiting meetings on weeknights after 7 p. m. except on Thursday evenings. Dr. Thomas L. Broadbent, coordinator of student social affairs, said today.

The Thursday 7-9 hour was exempted from this ruling in order to accommodate students organizations and give students an opportunity to take care of necessary business.

Meetings held as part of departmental educational programs, under the direct supervision of the department, may be held on weeknights other than Thursday provided no social activity is involved.

Cullimore to Read In Final Mask Club Wednesday

Karma Jean Cullimore will read Lillian Hellman's "The Searching Wind" in the final Mask Club of the year, Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Little Theater. Dr. T. Earl Pardee, department head, announced today.

Miss Cullimore is the last in a series of advanced speech students who have read plays this winter. Plays are prepared as part of the classwork for the advanced play reading class.

Miss Cullimore, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Cullimore of Provo, is a senior student this year. Vice-president of the studentbody, she has been active in student affairs during her four years of college and will graduate during Commencement Exercises, June 5.

Lucaine Clark Fox, "Miss Anna" of KSL's Story Telling Time, herself a professional performer, is directing the play. Included in the cast are several other well-known Utah actors.

Tickets may be purchased at the College Hall box office.

An extra 200 copies of the book have been ordered, and students who have not ordered their books may get them from 3 to 4 at the Banyan office any day.

Two hundred thirty-four seniors and graduate students at Brigham Young university have been approved to receive bachelors' and master's degrees at the seventieth annual commencement exercises June 5 in the Joseph Smith building auditorium.

This number of graduates is the largest since June, 1942, when 345 graduates were approved, according to records at the registrar's office. The exercises, which will be preceded by the baccalaureate exercises June 2 and Alumni Day June 4, will be the first to be presided over by President Howard S. McDonald since he assumed his duties as head of BYU last July 1.

Class Elections Friday; New Rules Adopted

Class officers will be elected next week, the student council said today as they outlined a new election procedure for class officers.

Petitions, signed by 75 qualified voters, must be in the hands of student body officers by noon Wednesday so that students nominated can be checked for eligibility before class meetings Thursday where formal nominations will be made. Class meetings are slated for part of the regular Thursday assembly hour.

Election by secret ballot will be carried out on Friday. Booths will be set up on the campus and Blue Key, men's honorary service fraternity, will supervise the voting. Officers will be installed May 30.

Previously class officers have been nominated and elected in class meetings. The new setup was adopted this year to avoid the election of students not properly qualified to hold offices in the respective classes, and to provide a more fair method of voting.

To be qualified for class officers, students must be upholding the standards of the university, and be a regularly registered student. Eligibility for the respective class offices has been set up as follows: for the sophomore class, candidates must have at the end of the quarter in which elections take place, 45 hours of credit; for the junior class, 85 hours of credit; and for the senior class, 135 hours.

Revise Our Library Hours, Please!

Our library is supposedly operated for the use of students attending this university. But our library seems to be suffering from a severe case of "close-up-itis". The dormitories are open until 11:00 p. m. school nights and yet our library closes up tight at 10:00. Girls who live in UCD or Iona House have no place to study, yet there is no dormitory more than 10 minutes away from the library. Why can't the library reading room stay open until 15 to 11 and the reserve room until 10:30 every night in the week—even Friday? Our ballroom will not hold all the students at dances and the library should be open for those who wish to study Friday nights. As it is now, our library is dark at 8:00 p. m. every Friday. This same problem comes up on lyceum nights. Our university enrollment is now so large that not every student can go to our lyceum programs. . . . the library and reserve room should be open on these nights until 10:45 p. m. and 10:30 respectively. Why should students be deprived of the library just because there is a lyceum on or a dance scheduled. Many students are going to this school for an education not just the social angle.

Have you ever tried to get into the library on Sunday? You will find it locked up. The same is true of the reading room on Saturday afternoon after 4:00 p. m.

For those students who have no quiet place to study this is practically murder. Our library rules should be revised to permit the library to remain open Saturday afternoons until 6 p. m., and by all means we recommend that the reading room be available to those who may desire to use it Sunday afternoons from 1 until at least 6.

Circulation desks need not be open, but a place for students to study be provided in the BY library ON SUNDAYS.

These are not our ideas alone but the ideas of many who have no suitable place to do their lessons. We agree that the library should be closed during devotionals and student assembly, but to close up shop when students need desperately places to do their school work is defeating the prime purpose of this university. If it is a question of library workers there are many students who need the jobs and money. Let's revise those library rules.

Bookstore Profits Go to Union; Student Deplores Lack of Grown-up Spirit at Brigham Young University

Editor Y News:

Last week you printed a letter written by "C. E. W." inquiring where the profits of the bookstore were going and wondering why we were not contributing this money to the Union Building fund.

We certainly think that "C. E. W." asked a legitimate question and that all the students of Brigham Young University are entitled to an answer. We are sorry that this question has not been answered before in such a way that every student knows the answer.

We of the bookstore are proud of what the store has contributed to Brigham Young University during the years of its supervision by Dean H. R. Clark and would like to boast of it a little if we may.

Our first big project was the stadium as attested by the sign bearing the signature of President Harris that hung in the bookstore until this week. We put thousands of dollars into that stadium and the property adjacent to it that is used for physical education and recreation.

This remained our project until a fairly recent date. Then for a few years we had no definite project but contributed to several small projects around the campus. For example we helped build the tennis courts on the upper campus and gave $4,000 toward the purchase of the organ to be installed in the Joseph Smith Building.

Then when the idea for the student Union Building was conceived, we accepted that as our project. To date we have contributed $15,000 (some of which was accumulated earlier) to that growing fund and will remain behind that project 100 per cent until the building becomes a reality.

—STUDENTS' SUPPLY ASS'N.
H. Neil McKnight

Dear Editors, and to you who share my views:

The word University in the name of our Alma Mater always used to connote a place of formal learning to me. A proud, reserved place to learn of life and prepare for the serious business of living. In some respects this is still the case, but unfortunately this is now only occasionally true. I have been on the campus of several universities in this country. There the students know and feel and ACT like they are attending a university, not a high school for grades above twelve. Yet they have fun, enjoy themselves, and still act like ladies and gentlemen on the campus. "Kid stuff" doesn't go there; here it is quite prominent. There they conduct themselves as men and women and therefore are treated and handled accordingly by the deans and faculty. They expect to be and are treated as grown-ups pursuing serious business.

Why can't there be a little more propriety (and I don't mean the straight-laced, ram-rod backbone kind) and respect on this our university campus and in our classrooms? Why can't we be treated and handled more like the men and women we presume to be? Is it because of a few inconsiderates who will always be at a high school age level in thinking and acting? Partly yes, but this high schoolish atmosphere is not created solely by you, students who are finding that the "shoe fits"; no, a great deal is from the manner in which lessons and disciplines come from above.

Let each one of us stop a moment, think and take stock of ourselves from the most reserved senior down to the rowdiest freshman. Are we the courteous, friendly, considerate, serious people in search of happiness and learning that the "friendly" school a university, or are we boisterous, thoughtless products of lax home and high school teaching and discipline? If the former, let's show ourselves as such, and perhaps our elders will treat us and teach us accordingly. If not, maybe we should call ourselves the "Brigham Young High School for grades twelve and over." The current trend seems to be toward the latter.

Let's change it; it's up to you! Let's have a little class distinction; after all a man having spent three or four years in study deserves some respect from one who is just getting started. Who knows, the youngster may learn something. Let's be men and women and let's demand that type of governing. Let's make this a "UNIVERSITY".

Rose Claims No Beautiful Women Go To College

Several weeks ago Billy Rose, master showman, creator of "Jumbo," water aquades, and the New York Diamond Horseshoe night club, stirred up campus hotbeds all over the country by saying: "When a girl is beautiful she either marries, goes into show business or becomes a model. She does not go to college." Irate male voices from Maine to California rose to protest and defend beauties on college campuses large and small. The Harvard Lampoon telegraphed Mr. Rose that six girls of his choice would meet an impartial group of judges. The mighty little impresario accepted.

Previously, he had refused to pick a winner from a group of Mississippi State college photographs on the grounds that "there wasn't a beauty among them."

Always anxious to put in our two cents we enlisted the aid of photog Ken Smith to scan the campus for our answer to Mr. Rose, and he came up with three brunettes, one blond, and a red head.

If you don't think beautiful women go to college meet Nathel Openshaw who hails from Mesa, Arizona, she is a sophomore transfer, loyal Cesta Tie, and Viking pinned. You can find her anytime over at 343. Artistic Zola Rae Law claims the Val Norn shield, carries sophomore classes, and lists Provo as home. Her blond head can be seen any day in the art department bending over a sketch or watercolor picture.

Hailing from LeGrande, Oregon, Claire Stoddard was snow queen winter quarter, is affiliated with OS

Trovata, and has frosh written on her registration card. That blond medial dynamo with her at times answers to the name of Sessions.

Last but not the least of our answer to the protest that there is no beauty in college is Beth Zabriskie who reigned as Banyan queen this quarter. She of the dark curly hair and olive skin checks in nights at fourth South in Provo, goes to Val Norn meetings, and casts her vote for freshman class officers.

Billy Rose may say no beautiful women go to college but he will have to prove it to us . . . we have the pictures to say they do!

The Social Drag

By Bobette Petersen

Some of my classmates don't even know how to milk a cow . . . at "udder" stupidity! But then, who cares about such agricultural necessities when units are using every available hour left on the social calendar to crowd in spring formals, teas and canyon parties.

BRIGADIERS carried out an Indian theme at their dinner-dance Friday with a huge gold-studded Taj-Mahal placed over the fireplace at the country club. After dining on broiled steaks, the Brigs and their partners danced to the music of Dob Orton's orchestra. The floor show, under the direction of Shipley Snow, consisted of a number by the gader quartet and a reading by Kenny Wright which was dedicated to the Brigadiers who gave their lives in the services. Gordon Christensen sang "My Buddy" during the reading. After the floor show the fellows sang the sweetheart song while they pinned the heart-shaped mother-pearl pin favors on the girls. A midnight organ recital was held at the Fifth ward after the dance.

"Dream" was the theme of the NAUTILUS spring formal held last Saturday in the ballroom, which was beautifully decorated with stars, planets, flowers and candlelight. The silver dance programs and place-cards added glitter to the heavenly setting. Dinner was served before dancing to Don Griffith's orchestra began. Velma Bates and Dale McAllister gave a dream dance and a trio sang an original song by Jayne Morgan during intermission. The girls presented their escorts with gold key chains with the letters NL engraved on a small gold plate. Patrons present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Hyle, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Faag. BRICKERS elected Jim Winterton to take over the gavel from the retiring Sessions as president at a meeting last week. Other officers elected include Grant Ash, vice-president; Norman Parker, secretary; and George Ballif, treasurer. Brickers are making final plans for their formal Friday.

Elaine Waddoups has been elected to take over Marcy Greenhaw's job as president of CESTA TIE, and Joyce Whiting will succeed Margaret Friday as vice-president. Joy Tangren is the new bookkeeper, Mary Handley, reporter and LaRae Collett will keep track of unit history. Life-sized Varga girls were included in the decorations for the FORMAL dinner-dance last Saturday which featured the theme, "A young man's fancy." LeMoyné Peterson was toastmaster at the steak dinner where Craig Decker, Russell Grange, and LaMar Buckner gave guests on the theme of the evening. Miniature Esquire magazines were used as dance cards, and Gus Shields furnished the music for dancing. Winifred Jennings was chosen as the Viking sweetheart. After the dance the fellows took the girls to the Fifth ward chapel for the traditional midnight organ recital. The engagement of Cecil Zimmerman and Josephine Seaton was announced during the recital.

FIDELAS girls are proudly displaying sun tans acquired during the week end spent at the MIA home in the canyon. The girls hiked and played tennis all day, and then gathered around the camp fire at night to elect new officers. Betty Pearson was named president to take over the duties of Joy Thompson. Legia Mendenhall will replace Marge Lindstrom as vice-president, Anne Christensen will take over secretarial duties from LaRue Hoops, Maris Larson will act as reporter in place of Mary Sawyers. Iris Taylor was elected song leader and Elaine Thompson will be athletic director.

Plenty of food was the outstanding feature of the evening at the VAL HYRIC'S canyon party held last Wednesday. Highlights during the evening were dancing, campfire singing, and some astronomy-exploration field trips as attractive side-lines. Committees are busy working on a garden party which will be staged tonight. Plans are also being made for the Val Hyric formal next week.

VAL NORN election results will be announced at the yellow roses banquet to be held at the canyon party this week end. Final pledge votes for Polly Boden, Verda Griner and Betty Oliver will be held at the canyon also, and will be followed by the traditional feast of the gods. Shiralee Harding and Eloise Christensen are co-chairmen of the dance to be held in the canyon Saturday.

Marilyn Hatch was elected chairman of the ALTA MITRA senior breakfast honoring seven senior girls, to be held within a week. Genevieve Eliason heads the committee to plan the canyon party.

TAUSIGS are taking the girls along on a swimming party to be held this week end. D. L. Weaver is in charge of the event, with Winston Taylor, Ardean Watts, and Larry Rytting assisting him with the details.

Shirley Christensen is busy making big plans for the OS TROVATA canyon party to be held May 24, 25, and 26. At a meeting held last Thursday, Jerry Gwilliams was appointed chairman of the OS fashion tea.

LA SORELLAS are getting ready for their invitational dance to be staged Saturday. The theme is still secret and plans are being completed for the floor show and decorations.

"RAH! RAH!" SPIRIT FADES WITH LARGER ENROLLMENTS

Because of the greater number of students carrying heavy schedules and the more serious attitude of the students toward their work, the old "Rah! Rah!" spirit is disappearing from the campus, Vive-President Stradley of Ohio State University, said when he was asked what he thought were the reasons for the lack of spirit among the students. Graduate students, students in the professional colleges, and many others, have too much work to do, he said, to allow much time for social activities. He added that there seems to be a general attitude of more work and less play.

Prizes, Fun Galore Feature Ad Ball

Dean Gray took beard-growing honors at the annual Ad Ball last Friday night with the sparsest beard. Dean was awarded a baby's milk bottle and told to go home and shave. Other winners in the contest sponsored by the senior class were Bill Spence for the blackest beard; Gordon Lewis, most artistic; Jack Russell, fullest; Floyd Graham, reddest; and Parker Chipman, longest.

Sharing the spotlight with the judging of the beard-growing contest at the ball, was the awarding of gifts to the holders of the lucky tickets, a traditional Ad Ball custom. Electric alarm clocks, a hot plate, sun glasses, a powder box, and a tennis racket were among the gifts won by eight guests.

The title "Cue for Passion" won Lee Allen first place honors in the "name-the-perfume" contest conducted by members of Phi Chi Theta and Alpha Kappa Psi in connection with their two-day advertising celebration.

Carrying out the advertising theme, decorations for the ball included displays by Provo merchants of goods characteristic of their business.

Dance patrons and patronesses included Dean and Mrs. H. R. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Taylor, and Miss Lucille Spencer.

Committee members for the assembly and dance were Howard Lowe, Marian Hyde, Rosa Mac Swainston, Marion Gardner, Doug Brown, and George Fringle.

Spanish Club - - -

Spanish club members enjoyed their traditional Cinco de Mayo celebration last Wednesday with a program and Mexican dinner. The announced guest speaker for the evening, Sr. Antonio Casillas, chancellor of the Mexican foreign service, was unable to be present.

Reed Powell gave a historic review of "Cinco de Mayo" while Clement Williams toasted Mexico, and Elliot Howe the Mexican people. Spanish solos by Margarita Bautista, accompanied by Professor W. F. Hanson, and duets by Rinda and Letha Romney, accompanied by toastmaster Daniel Taylor, added to the evening. Several comedy numbers were given by Quentin Hale.

Prof. B. F. Cummings topped the party off with interesting characteristics of Spanish speaking people. Guests for the evening included Prof. and Mrs. Lee Valentine, Prof. and Mrs. J. Reuben Clark, III, and Dr. Gerrit de Jong.

Guild Show at San Francisco

"They Knew What They Wanted," starring John Garfield with Leo Carrillo and June Havoc, is US Steel's radio show from San Francisco this Sunday. Playwright Sidney Howard's Pulitzer prize winning comedy-drama of the California vineyards was one of the Theatre Guild's major successes on Broadway. Audiences liked its frankness and emotional appeal and reviewers gave it a rousing reception.

In his portrayal of Joe, the farm foreman, Garfield finds himself in a role not altogether unfamiliar. As an itinerant worker before he became famous in the films, he was a fruit picker in the San Joaquin Valley. Carrillo, the gay caballero of many movies, is Tony Patucci, the farm owner, and Miss Havoc is Amy, the Frisco waitress he meets and marries.

White Keys journeyed to the jungle and "Flamingo" for their dinner-dance. It was surprising how many students had rejoined the army and navy for the evening . . . tuxedo shortage, you know. The evening was interesting for the number of former White Keys it brought out. Russ Harris and Elsie Bradshaw said it was like old home week when they spotted in the crowd Ray and Lora Hilton Whiting, Eric and Birdie Boyer Boorman, Frank and Norma Taylor Gardner, Royal and Elaine Litchfield Henderson, Bill and Glenna Perkins Rasmussen, Dallas and Rhoda Vaun Call Young, Bruce and Barbara Taylor Reese, Isabell Hales and Dick Allred, Geneve Hickenlooper and Norman Sanders, to name a few.

Vikings and NL's tied up Saturday night with their dances. The Viks held forth at the JS building midst the atmosphere of "Esquire." The Viking brothers all appeared in the afternoon to do the decorating, which consisted of putting sheer negligees on some mannequins. The table decorations were less popular, but more beautiful. The traditional Viking recital was held after the dance, at the Fifth ward. During the evening the Viking sweetheart, Winifred Jennings, was presented and the engagements which had been, shall we say transacted, this year were read off. Surprise of the evening was when Bruce Tanner hung his pin on Katherine Hess. The only more miraculous thing we could imagine would be for Rex Lewis or R. G. to hang their pins. Cecil Zimmerman also signed his fate during the evening when he placed a diamond on former Y News editor Jo Seaton. See, Hickman, there is some hope.

All the new gold key chains on campus are a result of the NL formal which was held Saturday at the Country club. Fellows who proudly bear the chains solemnly affirm that they had a terrific time dancing to the music of Don Griffiths.

Thanks to AK Psi, and their feminine counterpart the Phi Chi Thetas, the Ad Ball last week end proved to be one of the most entertaining student body dances of the year. Dale McAllister walked off with the coveted alarm clock, which his eight o'clock prof prayed that he would win. See, faith moves mountains.

Tausigs concentrated on the NL dance this past week, and as a result, they composed over half of the masculinity in attendance. They themselves are going to throw a party at Saratoga this Sunday which ought to prove fun. Two Tausigs back on the campus for a short vacation were Earl Kern and Dewey Bluth, both of last year's vintage.

The thing to do this summer, seems to be to work at the parks. It will look like a BYU reunion the day all the kids check in down there. Bryce Bailey hung his pin last week just after our deadline. The recipient was Renee Millerburg.

Seen around the campus over the week end were such sharp strangers as Dick Bristow's side-kick from Berdoo, Gordon Bostwick. From the north, Logan, that is, came ACers Jay Turley and Jess Harwood. Their attraction was Coach Millet's basement apartment. Then there was that sailor which attached itself to Coke Townsend. For further info, you can probably refer to the Iona column.

White Keys met in a "Flamingo" atmosphere last Friday night in the Springville fourth ward for their annual dinner-dance. Huge brown and green palm trees filled the ballroom, while a red Flamingo stood poised by a blue lily pond in the center of the dance floor. Green jungle vines hung from the windows and candles were in the lounge windows and on the mantle.

Dinner was served in the banquet room where White Key president, Rhoda Mae G. Jeppson welcomed active, guests, and alumnae members.

The tables were decorated with spring tulips, bridal wreath, and iris. Place cards were pink flamingos on black and silver background.

Patrons for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Broadbent, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne B. Hales, and Mr. and Mrs. Goates.

Among the features of the concert will be the first movement of the ever popular and difficult B-flat minor concerto of Tchaikowsky to be played by Jack E. Bowman; the second and third movements of the famous G minor concerto of Saint-Saens to be played by Lona Mae Clegg; and one of Liszt's most pretentious Hungarian Rhapsodies, the 12th, to be played by Mary Neves.

Other students who will appear on the recital include Janice Chadwick, Rama Johnson, Phyllis Fox, Corinne Smith, Grace Hutchings, Merrilyn Harmon, Mary Sells, and Edna C. Wardle.

Y Calcares Frolic At Wildwood Inn

Y Calcares journeyed to Wildwood last week end, and the I. E. Brockbank cabin for a session of fun and laughter. Tennis, hiking, and sunbathing helped these gay sophomore girls forget their studies. Saturday night Glenna and Gloria Schwantes were in charge of an after-dinner program of music, stories, and songs.

Ila Bird and Mrs. Harris held down the chaperone positions while Aileen Hales, Shirley Johnson, and Joyce Whiting gathered the grub and girls together.

Dr. Madsen Has 3rd Recital

The third in a series of three vocal recitals for the current quarter by students of Dr. Florence J. Madsen will be presented in College Hall May 20 at 8:15 p.m.

The series of recitals has spotlighted graduate vocal students, with participation by a number of undergraduates also. In the coming program, Anna Jean Bullock and Miriam Young will be the featured singers with other soloists and ensembles from among Dr. Madsen's students. The recital will be open to the public.

"Divine Comedy" At Delta Meeting

Responding to a request for a repeat performance, Prof. Harold W. Lee reviewed Dante's "Divine Comedy" for members of Lambda Delta Sigma at the last cultural meeting. He also discussed the better known "Inferno" and two other volumes of work entitled "Purgatorio" and "Paradiso."

Prof. Lee studied "La Divina Commedia" in the original Italian which pursuing his graduate work in French and Spanish at Stanford university.

Happenings On - - - The Hill

Any similarity between this column and "Painting the town with Esquire," is purely coincidental, and arises from a lack of news. Serious objections can be submitted to the editor. We dare you!

Everyone is trying to get their formal over with in this one last splurge of socializing before the inevitable end of school rolls around. This fact is verified in that there were four formal-als last week end, in addition to the usual activities which come in the springtime, such as the closing of the Utahns.

Brigs and White Keys held their dinner-dances on the same night. This may lead to the supposition that Brigs don't do with girls who are brainy, and that's so right, so darn right. In spite of their lack of whatever they lack, however, Brigs had a terrific time from all reports. The theme was Taj Mahal, but do to an oversight on the part of the committee there were no extension cords around, hence no lights, so nobody knew what the decorations looked like. This made it a lot more fun. During the evening, the Brigs paid tribute to their seven buddies who were killed in the war, and Homer Chris' brother "Moon" sang "My Buddy" to conclude the impressive tribute. The toast of the evening came from Chris himself. As most toasts are, it is unprintable here. Even we have scruples, and an editor who censors our column.

The Golden Oyster

By Alex B. Darais

Many people stumble over their own feet and blame others for their fall.

Compliments inflate the ego, criticism expands the mind.

CLICHE

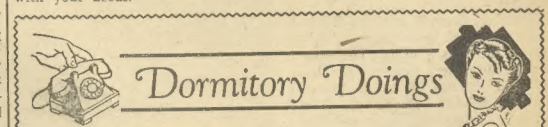

Never again, I told my heart,
Will I allow myself to fall;
To be led, nay lured, by a woman's art
To the gates of the wailing wall;
To the gates of that place of paradise
That she promised to ope for me.
Ah, what a fool to be fooled by eyes
That saw only the fool in me.

His mind is so narrow that his thoughts die from claustrophobia.

The evolution of man still continues; he has now sprouted a sixth finger—the cigarette. Science has yet to determine its value.

To be great in the sight of men is not the lot of every man, but to be great in the sight of God is given to all. Therefore, seek not to be great, but good, for therein lies true greatness.

You would not deny the church with your words, then why do so with your deeds.

Allen Hall

It can honestly be said that Allen Hall indulges in the most fascinating, unusual and different recreations—ping-pong, knitting, and now milking. All the girls, under the direction of the profound teachings of Que Winters, are learning the fastest, easiest, and most abundant ways to milk a cow. So that these girls may participate in the cow milking contest to be held at the Horse Show, May 24, Coach Winters sees that they exercise their hands daily. Leading as the fastest milker is Cesta Junella Sanford, while OS seems to be trailing. Shirlee Christensen just can't seem to make the milk pour easier. Artistic Norma Smith uses coke bottles instead of buckets. Although this process is harder and a little slower, Norma finds it great fun trying to hit the bottle. Meanwhile Lambda Delta's Johnnie Belle Holley, is still trying to learn how to make the milk go straight down into the bucket instead of all over her and the cow too. Outcome of this contest will be of great interest to all of those attending the show.

As the month of brides arrives wedding bells will be gloriously ringing. Darrell Stubbs placed a beautiful solitaire on the finger of Eva Stokes, Friday night.

Also recently accepting diamonds were Betty Galbraith and Nancy Shurtleff. Betty will become the bride of Keith Larsen in an August wedding, while Nancy and Max

Newrene have not set a wedding date as yet.

With spring arrives romance so we have been told, and the dorm seems filled with it. Donna Smith and Glen Snarr probably should be engaged so they wouldn't carry on so much. It's so darn tender, though.

Another interesting pastime is watching Joe Barker and Zola Cooper in one corner of the living room and Spence Larsen and Leona Jackson in the other. Lalligagging is the word, I believe.

There will be more milking news next time.

Iona House

Did Mothers' Day find you dashing around as madly as the Ionians? Innumerable girls were found stationed at the telephone Sunday placing that call to that certain mother. Mavis Dewisp succeeded Gene Harris also and to this day Betty Clark is still making that noble attempt to get California.

Y Track Team to Vie Against Utes and Aggies

Brigadiers Lead Softball Tourney

Going into the last phases of inter social unit softball play, the Brigadiers hold a comfortable lead with only one defeat in seven games while their nearest rivals, the Tausigs, have a record of 4 games won and 3 lost.

In the only game played last Monday, the hot Briggs extended their winning streak at the expense of the Vikings as they pounded out a decisive 6 to 3 triumph. Swenson and Dixon of the Briggs teamed up on the mound and at the plate to produce the win. Swenson held the usually hard hitting Vikings to only one hit until the final frame when the Vikings got to him for three hits.

Thursday, May 9, saw the Brickers eke out their second win as they downed the Phis 3 to 1. The same day the Brigadiers trounced the hot and cold Tausigs 10 to 2. Yesterday the Brickers played the Vikes and the Brigadiers were matched against the Tausigs but the results have not yet been tabulated.

Winning Team To Compete In Conference Title Meet

Y Tennis Team To Play Utah

Tuesday, May 21 the BYU netters will get their second chance at the tennis teams from the University of Utah. This will be a return engagement and the Y boys will be hosts to the Indian racket swingers. In the last encounter the Utes won over the cougar representatives, so the team from the BYU will be out to gain a victory.

Coach Dixon announces that the teams are in good shape and from all indications it should be a good match.

Those who will participate in the doubles will be picked from the following: Don Wilson, Chase Allred, Doug Busterud, and John Hyde.

The singles players will be picked from the following: Bud Harmon, Bill Mangum, Jack Thurgood, Don Evans, Tom Pardoe, and Keith Wilson.

Tomorrow the Cougar thinclads travel to Salt Lake to face Utah and Utah State in the classic state championship track meet. This meet decides which of Utah's athletes will represent the state in the conference meet to be held in Denver next week end.

For the first time in four years the three schools are competing in varsity track competition and Coach Floyd Millet has a formidable squad to vie against the favored Utes and Aggies.

Former champions Carl Clark and Brady Walker will lead the Y men and are favored to cop firsts in their respective events. In 1942 Walker took both the discus and javelin events although the Cougars ended in a tie with Utah State with 46 1-4 points while the Redskins took top honors with 51 1-2 points.

Utah State took Utah into camp earlier in the season in a two-way meet and are the pre-meet favorites with Utah running second and the Y as yet an unknown quality.

Coach Millet has named the following men to take the jaunt tomorrow.

100 yard dash—Neilson, Skousen, Smith.

220 yard dash—Neilson, Skousen, Smith.

440 yard dash—Mitchell.

880-yard run—Roberts, Howell.

1 mile run—McGuire.

2 mile run—Lloyd.

Low Hurdles—Neilson, Skousen, Osborne.

High Hurdles—Neilson, Skousen, Osborne.

Pole Vault—Clark, Young.

High Jump—Hinton, Neilson.

Broad Jump—Young, Skousen, Card, Smith, Ellsworth.

Discus—Walker, Cannon.

Shot Put—Walker, Cannon.

Spring Highlights

By Knute Hatch

Bill Stern Scoop—

In 1939, a cool Sunday baseball game was in action—Cleveland vs. New York. The occasion—Mother's Day. Bob Feller, Cleveland's fast ball hurler, was chucking for the Indians and was facing the Yank batter in the last of the fifth inning. The first ball was over the outside corner for a called strike. The second delivery was swung on and hit deep into left center field, going into the stands. On this traditional day with a population of over 40,000 fans in attendance, one person was hit by the ball. Believe it or not that person was Mrs. Robert Feller, his mother. No injuries were received.

Play Ball—

South high and Bingham high tangled today for the state baseball title. In the semi-finals South checked Box Elder on the latter's diamond 6-2. Out Copperton way the Bingham Miners outscored the Bulldogs of Provo high in a hectic tilt, winning 19-12.

With any less collaboration or strain I will present you an old poem. This poem is said to be one of small amount of—sparked by red blood. Title: "Fleas," written by Gotten. Poem: "Adam Hadem."

After Utah State trounced the Utes last week in their annual track meet at Logan, the Aggies will go into this week's collegiate clash as slight favorites. The Y, weak in the sprint division, should take most of the points in the weights and pole vault, and the Aggies are also weak in the sprints so the race should be a close one, with the Indians and Aggies fighting it out for top honors.

Big Wheel—

Brady Walker, weightman of the Y, was captain of the Third Army Track and Field team which won the G. I. Olympics at Nuremberg, Germany, in '45.

Brady received a handsome chronometer watch for garnering first in the discus, a classy camera for second place in the shot, and for capturing third place in the hammer, a fancy fountain pen.

Saturday Big Brady should account for around 15 points for BYU in the State triangular meet at Salt Lake.

Colorado university's powerful cinder squad ran away with the Eastern Division track meet Tuesday as they rolled up 127 3-4 points. Following the Buffs were the Colorado Rams, 35 3-4; Wyoming, 33 1-4; and the Denver Pioneers last with 32 1-4 counters.

The Utah U tennis team overpowered the Aggies from Logan Tuesday, blanking them 6-0. Although the U won all six matches nearly every contest went three sets.

Golfers—

The Y Open Golf Tournament has been advanced one week, and scores must be handed to Buck Dixon before May 25. This tourney is open to anyone, so make haste.
